UPDATED BIBLIOGRAPHY ON NEPALI WOMEN

Seira Tamang and Harsha Man Maharjan

Eight years has passed since a reference bibliography on writings on Nepali women was published in SINHAS (volume 2, number 2, 1997).¹ Clearly, much more research and information has become available in the intervening years and this updated bibliography is intended to aid further research on women in Nepal.

As with the first bibliography, this list of references for writings on women in Nepal is not comprehensive. It takes as its departure point where the last bibliography ended, the late mid-1990s. While a few older important publications that were not in the 1997 list of references have also been included, the focus here is on recent work. And as with the first endeavor, these references include a mixture of books, journal and magazine articles, theses, dissertations and development reports.

However, in this updated bibliography, special attention has been given to masters' level thesis completed at Tribhuvan University and to articles published in Nepal-based journals and magazines such as the Nepal Law Review, Nyayadoot (the bi-monthly magazine of the Nepal Bar Association), CAMAD (A Journal of Administration, Management and Development) and NUTA (Nepal University Teachers' Association). An attempt has also been made to integrate more scientifically oriented

1 The authors thank Bhaskar Gautam and Ramesh Parajuli for their assistance in the preparation of this bibliography. Abbreviations used are: APROSC = Agricultural Projects Services Centre; CEDA = Centre for Economic Development and Administration; CERID = Research Centre for Educational Innovation and Development; FWLD = Forum for Women, Law and Development; HMGN = His Majesty's Government Nepal; ICIMOD = International Centre for Integrated Mountain Development; IIDS = Institute for Integrated Development Studies; INSEC = Informal Sector Service Centre; MGEP = Mainstreaming Gender Equity Program of UNDP; MWCSW = Ministry of Women, Children and Social Welfare; MWSW = Ministry of Women and Social Welfare; NUTA = Nepal University Teachers' Association; Pro Public = Forum for Protection of Public Interest; TU = Tribhuvan University and त्रि.वि.वि. = त्रिभुवन विश्वविद्यालय research related to women in Nepal. Readers will see reflected in this bibliography the recent attention to the gendered dimensions of the current conflict, as well as the continuing focus on issues such as trafficking.

As in the last published reference bibliography on women in Nepal, SINHAS invites authors represented here (and those that may have been missed) to send copies of their publications to SINHAS. They will be deposited in the Martin Chautari library in Kathmandu, which is open to researchers, journalists and students.
